GRAND ARMY PLACE.

It Is Officially Dedicated In Washington

BY THOUSANDS OF VETERANS.

Everything in Readiness for the Grand Encampment Which Promises to Be the Greatest Event in the History of the Grand Army of the Republic.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—For days past the members of the G. A. R. have been gathering from every part of the Union. Great cities, small towns, little hamlets and solitary farm houses have sent their quotas, greater or smaller, and the result is an attendance no man can closely estimate, and certainly surpassing that ever before seen in Washington.

All through last night the trains arrived in so many sections as to constitute an intricate problem in railroad management, and every train was laden with comrades, their wives, sons and daughters. Besides there were many sightseers not connected with the G. A. R. attracted by the spectacular displays expected to be seen during the week. All of these people were taken care of as they arrived by the members of the reception committee or the numerous corps of bright high school boys who were detailed for the service.

Those who had secured accommodations at hotels or boarding houses were directed to their destination; those who had heedlessly and without regard to warning circulars sent out by the citizens' committee neglected to engage lodgings were furnished with addresses where bed and board might be had and the great army of veterans who have availed of the free quarters tendered by the citizens of Washington were escorted to their temporary quarters. In some way everybody was cared for.

The feature of yesterday, full of events as it was, and one of historic interest was the inauguration and dedication of Grand Army place, as it is called, which is known as the White lot, just south of the ground of the executive mansion. It is one magnificent lawn comprising many acres of ground, covered with well kept green sod and unbroken by a single tree or bush. On this vast field by a happy conceit has been laid out a reproduction of the closing campaign of the war of the rebellion. But instead of serried armies and parks of death-dealing artillery, the positions of the federal armies have been indicated by the arrangement of tents and stands.

The inauguration of Grand Army place was preceded by a parade of considerable proportions, and one of great interest to the Grand Army men as well as the other spectators, because of the opportunity it afforded of contrasting the appearance and movements of the veterans with the precise and modern methods of the soldiers of Uncle Sam's regular army and navy, for the principal part in yesterday's parade was taken by the regular soldiers, sailors and marines stationed in Washington and the District of Columbia national guard, which ranks high in the points of efficiency, drill and soldierly appearance among the militia organizations of the country. The procession consisted of five brigades commanded by General Eugene A. Carruss, as follows: Troop of the regular army, naval batteries and marines, District national guard, posts of the department of the Potomac, G. A. R., and Sons of Veterans.

The plaza surrounding the flag tower, where the dedicatory exercises were held, was crowded to its utmost capacity before noon—the hour fixed upon for the event. The vice president and commander-in-chief were then escorted to their places on the stand from the reviewing stand where they saw the parade. The 1,500 seats on the platform were occupied by prominent Grand Army and Woman's Relief corps officers and government officials—a most distinguished gathering.

The assembly on the bugle secured partial order and the band played a national air, after which Comrade McElroy formally called the assemblage to order and introduced Rev. S. B. Paine, D.D., of Ocean Grove, N. J., chaplain-in-chief, who delivered the dedicatory prayer. Another air by the Marine band followed and then Commander-in-chief Palmer made the introductory address. As he rose on the platform the old soldiers gave him a most affectionate greeting. At the conclusion of his address he introduced Vice President Morton, who is to take the president's place in the exercises during the encampment.

Before introducing the vice president, General Palmer read a telegram from President Harrison received from Loon Lake, in answer to one sent by him to the president, expressing his regret and sympathy, by which the president said: "I looked forward with much interest to the great rehearsal in Washington next Tuesday of the victors' march of 1865. I would have esteemed it one of the highest honors of my public life to have welcomed to the national capital and to have received on its historic avenue this representative assembly of the men who not only saved the city from threatened destruction, but made it the worthy political capital of an unbroken Union. It would also have been one of the most favored and tender incidents of my private life to have taken these comrades by the hand again, but all this has been denied to me by the intervention of a sad and imperative duty, and I can only ask you to give to all my cordial greeting and good wishes.

"Accept my sincere thanks for your very kind and sympathetic message."

The reference to President Harrison was the signal for enthusiastic cheering, which lasted some time. The demonstration was a striking tribute to the soldier-president.

The vice president was warmly received when he arose and made a short speech.

The flag on the staff 150 feet over head was then unfurled and saluted by a round of artillery. With the "Star Sprangled Banner" by the Marine band the dedication of Grand Army place was complete and the thousands of comrades dispersed.

A pleasant incident took place in the parlors of the Ebbitt yesterday evening in the presentation of a beautiful Grand Army badge to Commander-in-chief Palmer by his aides, and one to his wife. The presentation speech was made by Chief Aide Hull Grant, who lauded and commended General Palmer as a man and commander. The general made a fitting response for himself and Mrs. Palmer. The general's badge is a beautiful bit of workmanship, of gold and diamonds. It has become a custom for the aides on the retirement of the commander to present him some token of their esteem and these are said to eclipse anything heretofore attempted in this line.

The council of administration of the national encampment held a meeting last night which was largely attended. The accounts of Adjutant General Pyster were examined and approved, and the action of Commander-in-chief Palmer, in the matter of the color line between posts in Louisiana and Mississippi endorsed.

The color line question is likely to come up again in the national encampment.

G. A. R. Notes.

Ex-President Hayes and party viewed the procession from the second story windows of the White House.

Sandusky, O., band serenaded Secretary Foster in his office in the treasury department. During the serenade business was suspended.

Very little sickness and very few casualties are reported. Only twenty-five cases were treated in the hospital, and none of them serious.

Secretary Noble tendered a reception to the Ransom post of St. Louis, and the John W. Noble Sons of Veterans at his residence last night.

The Berden sharpshooters are to hold their annual meeting on Wednesday. General Berden himself is quarantined in New York but hopes to get out in time.

The body of John Hickman of Sheridan's post No. 110, of Newark, N. J., was found floating in the James creek canal yesterday. When the body was discovered, his watch and chain, his pocketbook, and light overcoat were missing, and suspensions of foul play are entertained. The remains will be taken to Newark.

Governor McKinley, while en route to Washington, was notified of the death of his brother at San Francisco, and he retraced his steps toward Columbus. It had been expected that he would make the address at the laying of the cornerstone of the monument to General Crook to be erected in Arlington by the Society of West Virginia.

On Friday the members of the division will visit the Winchester and Harrisburg battlefields. At the latter place they were guests of the Stonewall command, having accepted an invitation brought here by Captain J. C. Marquis. There was dinner and speeches galore. Captain Marquis was a prominent guest at the dedication.

Made an Assignment.

THORNTOWN, Ind., Sept. 20.—John R. Beach, a hardware and implement dealer of this city, and John H. Beach and A. Beach, doing business under the firm name of Beach Brothers, at Lebanon, have made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. John R. Beach has been in business here for several years and was considered a "hustler." Twelve months ago he and his brother bought a carriage and implement house at Lebanon, and also established a branch house at Whitestown. The business here prospered, but the Beach Brothers' house became overstocked and the firm was unable to meet bills. The liabilities are placed at $7,000, with John R. Beach owing equally as much.

Wonderful Cures.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 20.—Rev. John Warman, a colored minister, is creating a sensation here by many alleged cures of infirm and sick people. Crowds with every kind of physical ailment gather in his church. He lays his hands on the afflicted and then offers up a prayer. The local papers give accounts of his cures. Two men who were crippled for twenty years, threw away their crutches and walked away. Paralyzed women were restored to health and other wonderful cures were effected.

Only a Soiree.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Considerable excitement was created here yesterday by a report that two immigrants suffering with cholera had been found on an incoming Erie railway train at Solon. It has been learned that the two persons intercepted was a woman and a child who came over from England on the steamship Chester as immigrants. They were stopped at Solon. There is no reason to suspect that they have been exposed to cholera.

Race War.

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 20.—News has reached here of a fearful race war that culminated in a general fight in which four negroes were killed and Captain James, a white man, seriously wounded at Campagnolle township, Calhoun county, last Saturday night. The negroes are said to be greatly excited and under the influence of vicious white men are threatening to kill every white man, woman and child in the county.

Mrs. Harrison Improved.

LOON LAKE, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Harrison's condition is somewhat improved this morning although the weather is dreary and rainy. The patient passed a fairly comfortable night.

Fatal Fight.

BUDA PESTH, Sept. 20.—A fatal fight, arising out of the Kosuth fetes, occurred in one of the streets of this city yesterday. A woman was killed and several others were injured.

HILL'S DEMOCRACY.

A Great Political Event in Brooklyn.

KINGS COUNTY CAMPAIGN OPEN.

Thousands of People Crowded Into the Academy of Music to Hear the Senator's Address—Every Available Space of Standing Room Was Occupied.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 20.—There was a great outpouring of Democrats in this city last night. The Academy of Music could not accommodate the crowd that rushed to secure good positions from which to take in every action of Senator David B. Hill in the delivery of an address that has been awaited anxiously by all Democrats in opening the Kings county campaign.

At 7 o'clock the doors of the big theater were opened, and while the senator was enjoying the hospitality of the Kings county campaign committee at the Clarendon hotel, but two blocks away 5,000 people were crushing their way into the academy. The house was filled inside of three minutes, and at the end of five minutes every available space of standing room was occupied.

There was one long hour to wait before the senator and Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, who was also to speak, would appear. The audience, which was a peculiarly Brooklyn one, containing several hundred ladies, was entertained with music by Contoro's band and the delightful decorations of the house. The stage was set as a forest scene, and beneath the overhanging canvas leaves sat 400 people, among whom were every prominent Democrat of Brooklyn in town, and many of the leading lights in the political arena of the large sister city.

It was about 8 o'clock when the speakers and the entertaining committee made their appearance. They were greeted with cheers which lasted while they walked down to the stage and took their seats. The dying cheers were strengthened when the enthusiastic audience caught sight of Hugh McLaughlin, the leader of Brooklyn's Democratic forces, as he entered a private box at the right of the stage. When the applause ceased, the meeting was declared opened by Chairman Thomas E. Pearsall, of the campaign committee. The most striking sentence delivered by him in his short address was the following:

"Democracy everywhere in the state of New York are at peace among themselves and never more thoroughly united than at this hour. Let all Democrats join in making the majority for Cleveland and Stevenson the largest ever given in the county of Kings."

Mr. Pearsall introduced as chairman of the evening William J. Combs, whose distinction lays in the fact that he ran for congress in a Republican district having 4,000 majority, and got elected.

Mr. Combs voice was weak and he did not speak more than a few minutes. Mr. Combs said that the first speaker of the evening needed no more introduction than the phrase "he is a Democrat."

Cries of "Hill, Hill," here greeted him, and he sat down while New York's senator arose and stood with smiling features, as the audience showered applause upon him. The senator's voice was low and calm as he began, but he gradually warmed up, and before a minute had passed he had uttered a phrase that carried wild applause with it. This was when he said that before the Democratic national convention at Chicago he was a Democrat and was a Democrat still. He said that he spoke as a Democrat to Democrats.

Prior to Senator Hill's opening speech the usual resolutions were presented and adopted. Besides pledging the support of Kings county Democrats to the ticket it attacked several measures advocated by Republicans in no niggardly terms. The present tariff system was criticised; its father, Governor McKinley, and Senator Aldrich questioned; the measure denounced as a tax "for the benefit of men whose chief claim to consideration at the hands of the Republican party, is that out of the plunder of the nation they supply it with money to debauch the electorate." The force bill was stamped as the handiwork of conspirators "who mean, if they can, to deprive of their civil rights the toiling masses, whom they have long robbed of the fruits of their industry."

Senator Hill's description of President Harrison's message was exceedingly clever; his refutation of the statistics of Commissioner Peck's famous report, his reminiscences of Henry Cabot Lodge and John I. Davenport, about what is now known as the Davenport force bill, and his assurance that the Democrats of the country would never give Mr. Davenport the "more favorable" opportunity he wished to again introduce his bill, all tickled his auditors and were utterances that caused perfect storms of applause.

The excitement in the audience was noticeable as the senator drew near the close of his address. He had spoken for an hour, and not once had he mentioned the name of Grover Cleveland. He had called to his assistance in defending his attack on the tariff bill passages from Cleveland's message of 1887, but in each instance referred to the ex-president as "he." The anxiety of his auditors was plainly apparent. The excitement increased as the senator stated that the "old guard" would do its duty, and a perfect hurricane of applause, yells and cheers broke forth, when after one grand sentence of deepest meaning, he closed with the names "Cleveland and Stevenson."

The senator's tact, and ingenious way of bringing a climax to his address, was recognized by the enthusiastic audience, by its rising, en masse and cheering him to the echo. It also furnished Congressman Breckinridge, who followed, with a theme on which to open a most eloquent and forcible address.

Congressman Breckinridge made a long and forcible speech which was enthusiastically applauded, and the meeting adjourned after a brief speech by Lieutenant Governor W. F. Sheehan.

MUST PAY THE TAX.

Railroads Defeated by a Decision in the Circuit Court.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—The railroads of the state received their first signal defeat in the circuit court yesterday in their fight against the new tax law. The Big Four road some months ago brought suit to enjoin County Treasurer Backus from collecting taxes assessed against the road by the state board of tax commissioners. Counsel for the road claimed that the new law denied equal protection to the railroad with all others in the state, in direct violation of the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution.

Judge Brown, in his opinion, held that the law is constitutional in every respect. The real point at issue was whether the state could deny to a railroad corporation the right to be assessed by a county, as granted every one else, and compel it to accept the assessment of the state board without appeal.

Militia at the World's Fair.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—Adjutant General Ruckie is making an effort to have the Indiana militia well represented at the world's fair dedication ceremonies at Chicago next month. Indiana has been invited to send one thousand troops to participate in the exercises. There is no appropriation with which to pay to the expenses of this trip, and consequently every militiaman will have to pay for his own transportation. Adjutant General Ruckie has secured a railroad rate of one cent a mile for the militia, and as the world's fair authorities will furnish tents and rations, it is believed the number desired will attend. The plan is to send four regiments, of eight companies each, each company to contain from thirty to forty men.

Will Be Watched with Interest.

DANVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20.—Among the new pupils at the state deaf and dumb institution in this city this year is Daisy Billings, of Louisville, who is blind, deaf and dumb. She is nine years of age, has been deprived of sight and hearing since infancy, and her education will present some unusual problems. She is bright and with every indication of a sound, healthy mind. With the remarkable cases of Laura Bridgeman and Helen Keller, who were similarly afflicted and yet became highly educated, as guides, the officers of the institution are hopeful of being able to do much for her mental development and the training of her moral nature.

Killed by a Train.

BLAIRSTOWN, N. J., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Simon H. Wessler and her only daughter, Kate, a young woman of nineteen, were instantly killed here Monday by the Pennsylvania, Poughkeepsie and Boston express. They were on their way home from church in a carriage, which Miss Wessler was driving. They did not hear or see the train, which was running at a high rate of speed, until they were on the tracks directly in front of it. Miss Wessler whipped up the horses, but it was too late. The train struck the carriage, wrecking it, and hurling its two occupants several yards away. When the women were picked up they were breathing their last.

Defended Her Child with a Knife.

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 20.—A woman known as Madame Cornelia, having a pretty little girl, was awaiting at the depot yesterday for the early train to Cincinnati. Charles Morrison, of this city, approached and attempted to kidnap the child, claiming it was his. The madame resisted, drew a knife and struck at him several times, gashing him once. Officers interfered, and both are now in custody. Three weeks ago Morrison kidnaped the child in Covington, Ky. The woman followed and regained it. Morrison claims the madame is his wife, but she denies it.

Daylight Bank Robbery.

DENTER, Kan., Sept. 20.—At 1:35 yesterday afternoon two masked men entered the Watkins bank, at this place, and, covering the cashier with their pistols, ordered him to give up the cash. He turned over in the neighborhood of $3,000 to them, and they mounted their horses and fled. They backed out of the bank, and as they reached the street they fired a shot in the air and rode away. The men are supposed to be cowboys.

Would-Be Fanny Joker.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—Some practical joker had some fun at the expense of State Auditor Poe. He sent a box by express which bore the appearance of the much dreaded infernal machines which recently reached the czar of Russia. The attaches of the office examined the machine and nobody was hurt. A bottle of something resembling powder was found, surrounded by some galvanized wires.

A Farmer Found Dead in a Melon Patch. BARNESVILLE, O., Sept. 20.—John Tallman, a wealthy and influential farmer, living near here, was found dead near his home yesterday with a bullet hole through his head. It is thought that he went to his melon patch for some melons and took his gun along to kill ground-hogs. When the body was found melons were lying near it and the gun was standing against a fence.

Almost Met His Death.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—While picking grapes Lew Hartman, a jeweler of this city, accidentally hung himself. A board, which he placed across the arbor, broke with him, and in falling he was caught by the throat in one of the wire supports. Being choked he could not call for help, and when found by his family was unconscious.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

The Punishment Meted Out to Anarchist Berkman.

FRICK'S ASSAILANT CONVICTED.

The Accused Man Had No Attorney and Did Not Cross-Examine Witnesses—Hugh O'Donnell's Trial Called and a Number of Witnesses Examined.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 20.—The trial of Alexander Berkman, the anarchist, who attempted to kill H. C. Frick, July 23, was called before Judge McClung in the criminal court yesterday. No one not having business in the court room was permitted to enter.

Berkman, when brought in, maintained the same indifferent demeanor that has characterized his conduct since his arrest. He had no attorney and did not cross-examine witnesses. He had no witness for his defense.

The prosecution was conducted by District Attorney Burleigh, who, in his opening speech, presented the seven indictments, charging Berkman with offenses ranging from felonious assault and battery down to carrying concealed weapons.

H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel company and the victim of Berkman's assault, was the first witness. He described the location of the Carnegie offices and stated that the assault was made between 2 and 3 o'clock, July 23. Witness saw Berkman pacing the hall outside of his office when he entered.

Shortly after Berkman was announced and when he came, he shot at witness, who fell to the floor. Witness tried to rise, but received another bullet wound. A photograph showing the disarranged furniture as it appeared after the shooting, was shown as was also the clothing that Mr. Frick was wearing at that time.

Berkman was then asked if he had any questions to ask and said: "No," then said in broken English: "You think that I wanted to shoot Mr. Leishman, too?" Mr. Frick said he did not know about that, and left the stand.

Dr. Litchfield gave the medical testimony relating to the wounds. Mr. Leishman, vice chairman of the Carnegie Steel company, who was in Mr. Frick's private office at the time, did not see Berkman, or know of his presence until he heard the revolver shots. He grappled with Berkman. Berkman tried to shoot him, but the weapon missed fire. Mr. Frick came to Mr. Leishman's assistance, and together they grappled with Berkman, who then drew the knife and stabbed Mr. Frick several times.

Berkman said: "That statement is untrue," and asked Mr. Leishman: "Are you positive I tried to shoot you?" "I am positive my statements are correct," was Mr. Leishman's answer.

Other witnesses described details of the assault.

After the prosecution rested, and Berkman asked for an interpreter, which was granted.

He then said: "I am not guilty. I have a defense." He then began to read irrelevant matter from a large roll of paper, which the court checked, but finally permitted him to proceed. The statement was an anarchistic and inflammatory address, written in German.

Berkman continued his harangue from 11:45 until 1:05 o'clock, when the court shut him off. The district attorney did not make an address, saying that argument was unnecessary.

Judge McClung made a brief charge, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty on all seven indictments without leaving the box. Judge McClung pronounced sentence at once, aggregating twenty-one years to the penitentiary and one year to the work house.

Just before sentence was passed, Berkman said he had not been given justice, nor had he expected it.

HUGH O'DONNELL'S TRIAL.

The Prisoner Applies for Bail and Several Witnesses are Examined.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 20.—There was but a small crowd in criminal court No. 3 when Hugh O'Donnell applied for bail yesterday afternoon. There is a large number of witnesses to be examined.

The witnesses called were the newspaper men who were in Homestead during the strike. Frank M. Gregg, a Cleveland reporter, testified that he was in the cupola of the Homestead mill on July 6th. O'Donnell was there watching the battle below and said: "It's d— funny they can't sink those boats."

John Gregg, a Pittsburgh reporter, testified that a few nights before the riot he went from Pittsburgh to Homestead on the same train with O'Donnell. When they arrived in Homestead there was an alarm that Pinkertons were coming. The strikers seemed to come to O'Donnell for orders. O'Donnell said to the crowd: "Shoot them down; no quarter."

Much of the other testimony has been printed in the form of news. At 5:15 o'clock court adjourned and O'Donnell was taken back to jail.

Stables Burned.

FLINT, Mich., Sept. 20.—A long stretch of horse sheds at the industrial fair grounds were destroyed by fire yesterday. There were a dozen trotting horses in the sheds and all were rescued except Garfield (2:20 1-4), and Yet Eve. Garfield was valued at $3,000 and Yet Eve at $1,000.

Train Wrecked.

GRAFTON, W. Va., Sept. 20.—Train No. 1, due here from New York at 1:30 p. m., was wrecked about seven miles east of this place by the track spreading. Trains were delayed twelve hours. No one was seriously injured. Among the passengers was the Cincinnati baseball club.

"CLEAN UP."

The sanitary authorities have been very active during the past week. The old garbage law of 1876 is again in effective operation, and a relentless "smelling" committee is making a thorough inspection of the unclean places of the city. Under instructions from the County Board of Health, the Board of Education has directed an immediate inspection of the public school buildings by competent experts and a thorough correction of plumbing, ventilation and drainage. The supervision of this work will be entrusted to the efficient Chairman of the Committee on Public Buildings. Our citizens may rest assured that nothing will be omitted that will furnish protection against the ravages of infectious disease. Our quarantine service will be rendered as effective as improved methods can make it. The City Physician and his assistants, accompanied by the efficient sanitary police of Dr. Prendergast, are making daily inspections of all westbound trains. Captain Jacob Miller, upon application from the Board of Health, promptly ordered a number of army tents to be placed at the disposal of the sanitary authorities; and, as soon as the situation shall demand it, these tents will be put in requisition for hospital uses without the slightest delay. Maysville is now one of the most effectively quarantined cities in the country, and no effort will be spared by the authorities to make its sanitary condition equal to the best.

There are indications that the next city election will be a lively one.

COMPLETE official returns have at last been received from the late election in Arkansas. The Democratic plurality is only 56,471. No wavering among the Arkansas Democrats.

CHAIRMAN CARTER, of the Republican National Committee, says that "the election in Maine was full of encouragement for Republicans." Now where does the encouragement come in? The Republican plurality is about 8,000 less than it was in 1888. Perhaps, Mr. Carter thinks his party did well to get any majority at all.

The Owensboro Inquirer broadly insinuates that Urey Woodson is proving a traitor in the Democratic camp in that Congressional district. It accuses him of scheming to start a Republican campaign paper, which, of course, would oppose the re-election of Congressman Ellis. Woodson is a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and has been honored in other ways by his party. We trust that there is no truth in the Inquirer's talk.

MR. J. C. JEFFERSON, the Democratic nominee for Sheriff, is specially fitted for the position. He has served efficiently as Deputy for several years, and is thoroughly acquainted with every detail of the office. And all who know him know that if elected—and there is no doubt on that point—he will prove as prompt and faithful in the discharge of his duties as any one of the long line of trustworthy and excellent Sheriffs the Democratic party has given Mason County. The fact that the Republican nominee intends voting for Mr. Jefferson shows 'Squire Williams' good judgment and is a tribute to the Democratic nominee that will be recognized on every hand.

A CENT A DAY.

One of the Republican stumpers seeks to belittle the tariff burdens borne by the people by the calculation that "one cent a day from every person in the United States would pay the duty on all our imports."

Indeed! exclaims the New York World. Do not the protection tracts prove that "the tariff is not a tax," and have we not Governor McKinley's word that if it is a tax "the foreigner pays it?"

The stumper is more honest. But a little figuring by a laboring man having five children will show that even at "one cent per head a day" his family of seven must pay in tariff taxes $25.55 each year. What other tax upon the poor man compares with this?

And for what?—to enable the Carnegies to buy castles in Europe and the other monopolists to set up plutocracy in the republic!

"A cent a day" sounds small, but none know better than the workmen that "mony a mickle makes a muckle."

MAYSLEICK.

J. A. Jackson and son left Monday morning for a short visit on Cane Ridge.

A cold wave struck us last week. Stoves were brought into service and winter wraps.

Mrs. Thomas P. flopper is visiting her father, Wm. H. Robb, in the fleleua neighborhood.

We took a drive to Sardis last Sunday and spent the day with Uncle John Wheatly. He showed us a home-made straw hat that he has been wearing since 1860, and is as good as new. We noticed a good deal of tobacco still standing in the field, and very green.

We saddled up Shank's horse last Thursday and took a little stroll in the country to see if we could find any greenbacks, but we found not the vestige of one, but found corn cutting and seedling the order of the day. We saw a good deal of tobacco not cut and some of it a little too green.

An early frost would injure it very badly. West of this place a few miles the corn crop is short, but east of us the crop is fine. The grass is green and up nicely since the late rains, and the supply of water is much improved. The potato crop is good. Winter apples will be scarce and faulty, and the outlook for an early frost seems to be good.

ORANGERBURG.

The carpenters have commenced work on Charles Kennan's house.

Wm. H. Harrison and wife, of Lewisburg, were the guests of the family of A. C. Coryell Sunday. Our school commenced last week with Professor Wilson as principal and Miss Lizzie Davis as assistant.

Daniel Roe and Thomas Webster, of Helena, were here on a visit Sunday to their father, Edward Roe.

Miss Sallie Flaughter, of Rocky Highland Farm, is the guest of Misses Fannie and Annie Flaughter this week.

Miss Mae Hull, of near Tollestboro, has been the guest for the past two weeks of the family of Dr. Wm. H. Hord.

Misses Fannie and Annie Flaughter have returned home after a pleasant visit of three weeks to relatives in Ohio.

A REPLY TO MR. LUTTRELL.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., September 12, 1892.
Dear Sir: From a communication addressed to me through the columns of the Maysville EVENING BULLETIN and Public Ledger, you propose to arrange for a joint discussion between Hon. R. H. Yantis, the People's Party candidate, and Hon. T. H. Paynter, Democratic candidate, for Congress in this district.

Our district contains nearly 28,000 voters, and your candidate will, in all probability, receive less than 1,000 of them. Thirty-seven thousand, or the entire remaining vote, will be divided between Mr. Paynter and the candidate nominated by the Republican party at Ashland on the 22nd of this month. It is conceded that the contest in our district will be between Mr. Paynter and the Republican candidate. Therefore, it can not be reasonably expected that Mr. Paynter should consume his time in a discussion with Mr. Yantis, for whose election neither he nor yourself can have the slightest hope.

Respectfully declining your proposition, I remain yours, &c. C. B. POYNTEZ, Chairman Ninth Congressional Dem. Com. To Wm. Luttrell, Esq., Chairman People's Party Committee, Helena, Ky.

Lost His Money in a Dive.
MOUNT VERNON, O., Sept. 20.—Columbus Nelson, of Green Valley, attempted suicide by shooting himself in the head with a revolver on account of losing about $50 in a joint in this city. The wound is serious but he may recover.

Will Not Go to Washington.

An Interesting Sketch of the Popular Germantown Fair.

When and Where it Was First Held. Paying Investment—Coming Exhibition.

As the time for holding the 38th annual meeting of the Union Agricultural and Mechanical Association of Mason and Bracken counties approaches, perhaps a short sketch of the formation and objects of it would be of interest to our readers.

The first annual fair of the association was held on Thursday and Friday, October 5th and 6th, 1854, in what was then known as “Curren’s woods,” now the property of Col. John R. Walton, of Germantown. This enterprise was conceived about the first of August, of the year mentioned, in the midst of a drouth so protracted that it was impossible to get lumber by the river. The mill ponds were dried up so that steam could not be raised to have lumber sawed. The Board of Directors, nothing daunted, employed wagons and men, and not only cut and hauled the timber to make the lumber, but also hauled water a considerable distance to make the steam with which to cut the logs into lumber.

Surmounting all these difficulties, the first fair was such a success that the directors leased of Mr. Joseph Frazee, for a term of twenty years, the ground on which the fairs have since been held. The first fair had only a common fence; those who paid were furnished with a white ribbon, and this was the distinguishing mark between those who had paid and those who had not. The possession of a ribbon entitled one to all the privileges of the grounds.

President—Anthony Kilgore.
Vice-Presidents—C. M. Gibbons, Col. James Dawson, Henry Smoot.

Directors for Mason County—W. H. Slack, B. D. Owens, Evan Lloyd, Dr. A. H. Wall, Charles A. Lyon, A. J. Coburn, Allen Pumpelly, E. T. Currens.

Directors for Bracken County—Daniel Byars, William Dougherty, J. M. Blackerby, John Fee, William S. Harrod, W. P. Diltz, General W. B. Crupper.

Secretary—F. A. Savage.

The original programme was published after the fair had been held; it contains list of officers, list of premiums awarded, stating owner and name of animal, also a very fine address, delivered by Thomas B. Stevenson, on “Agricultural Improvements.”

The only copy of this programme extant is in the possession of our venerable friend, Dr. F. A. Browning.

The original promoters of this enterprise are, for the most part, off the stage of action, and a younger generation has taken their place.

The grounds now used by the society comprise a twenty acre enclosure of natural forestry, and is conceded to be the most beautiful grounds in the State. This society has achieved a series of successes never excelled and rarely equaled; other fairs have sprung up and flourished for a season, but the “old reliable,” being the second oldest fair in the State, still holds the even tenor of its way.

It has been a success in every particular. The original stockholders have received $43.25 for each investment of $10. In 1890 the society declared a 50 per cent. dividend, and also declared a dividend of 10 per cent. in 1891. The stock is at present worth way above par. The present management, by the liberality, fair treatment, courtesy and hospitality extended to both visitors and exhibitors have gained for themselves wide-spread reputation and popularity. But not content to rest on their laurels, not satisfied simply to keep up with the procession and progress of the age, it is their constant aim to keep in advance of the times.

To accomplish this purpose, for the season of 1892, they have generously offered the largest premiums ever given by a fair association, for show stock, giving a stake premium of $200 for the best saddle horse, mare or gelding; also a stake premium of $200 for the best roadster horse, mare or gelding. These premiums will bring to the fair the finest show stock in the State.

It is expected that their coming meeting will be unusually fine and attractive in every particular.

“My delight a county fair,” as the poet sings. Yes! Yes! the county fair is a great place to have a good time, and enjoy one’s self, so let everybody, old and young attend the great fair, and be happy.

Mr. Wm. Wells, aged about fifty-five years, died this morning at 4 o’clock at his home in Murphysville. He was thrown from a horse some time ago, and for three weeks had suffered from a severe pain in the head. It is thought the fall injured his brain and was the cause of his death. He leaves a wife and one child, a son. The funeral will take place at Murphysville M. E. Church to-morrow at 10 a. m. Services by Rev. W. T. Spears, of the Washington Presbyterian Church.

PREVENTION VS. CURE.

No One Who Obeys These Instructions Need Have Any Fear of Cholera.

OFFICE CITY PHYSICIAN,
MAYSVILLE, September 17, 1892.

HOW CAUGHT.

Healthy persons “catch” cholera by taking into their systems through the mouth, as in their food or drink, or from their hands, knives, forks, plates, tumblers, clothing, &c., the germs of the disease, which are always present in the discharges from the stomach and bowels of those sick with cholera.

Thorough cooking destroys the cholera germs; therefore don’t eat raw, uncooked articles of any kind, not even milk.

Don’t eat or drink to excess. Use plain, wholesome, digestible food, as indigestion and diarrhoea favor an attack of cholera.

Don’t drink unboiled water.
Don’t eat or drink articles unless they have been thoroughly and recently cooked or boiled, and the more recent and hotter they are the safer.

Don’t employ utensils in eating or drinking unless they have been recently put in boiling water; the more recent the safer.

Don’t eat or handle food or drink with unwashed hands, or receive it from the unwashed hands of others.

Don’t use the hands for any purpose when soiled with cholera discharges; thoroughly cleanse them at once.

Personal cleanliness, and cleanliness of the living and sleeping rooms and their contents, and thorough ventilation should be rigidly enforced. Foul water-closets, sinks, faucets, cellars &c., should be avoided, and when present should be referred to the Health Board at once and remedied.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES OF TREATMENT.

The successful treatment and the prevention of the spread of this disease demand that its earliest manifestations be promptly recognized and treated; therefore:

Don’t doctor yourself for bowel complaint, but go to bed and send for the nearest physician at once. Send for your family physician.

Don’t wait, but send at once.

If taken ill in the street, seek the nearest drugstore, and demand prompt medical attention.

Don’t permit vomit or diarrhoeal discharges to come in contact with food, drink or clothing. These discharges should be received in proper vessels and kept covered until removed under competent directions. Pour boiling water on them, put a strong solution of carbolic acid in them (not less than one part of acid to twenty of hot soap suds or water.)

Don’t wear, handle or use any articles of clothing or furniture that are soiled with cholera discharges. Pour boiling water on them or put them into it, and scrub them with the carbolic acid solution mentioned above, and promptly request the Health Board to remove them.

Don’t be frightened, but do be cautious and avoid excesses and unnecessary exposures of every kind.—World.

CLEON C. OWENS, M. D., for city.
C. T. PEARCE, M. D., Assistant.

Legislative Notes.

Fifty-eight members of the House were present yesterday.

A resolution expressing the sympathy of the House with Hon. W. O. Bradley and wife in the loss of their son, George, was unanimously adopted, and a copy will be certified to the grief-stricken family.

The Revenue bill came up as unfinished business.

The article on collection of revenue was passed, and that on assessment of distilled spirits was adopted. The article on the assessment of corporate franchises, and the manner of arriving at their value, was then taken up, and its consideration will probably hang fire for a day or two. The Senate had no quorum.

The House resolution to request the Governor to petition President Harrison to prohibit the landing of immigrants from cholera infected districts was discussed, but no action was taken on it.

The Corporation bill was given its final reading.

Attention, Sir Knights.

There will be a special conclave of Maysville Commandery No. 10, K. T., held at the asylum this (Tuesday) evening at 7:30 o’clock. The illustrious order of Red Cross will be conferred. A full attendance is desired. Visiting Fraters courteously invited.

JOHN H. HALL, E. C.
A. H. THOMPSON, Recorder.

The City Election.

The next city election will be held under the old charter. The officers will be chosen the first Monday in January and the voting will be by the old viva voce system. A residence of six calendar months in the city is necessary to entitle one to vote.

The above is an answer to “Country.”

The great Germantown Fair commences September 28th, and continues four days.

G. S. JUDS, insurance and collection agency.

MR. THOMAS GUILFOYLE is announced as a candidate for Councilman in the Fourth ward.

MR. JAMES DUNN and Miss Laura Bona will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony at St. Patrick’s Church, Thursday morning at 9 o’clock.

The floral hall department at the Germantown Fair will be unusually attractive to both visitors and exhibitors. Many new premiums have been added.

The marriage of Dr. R. M. Skinner and Miss Elizabeth Wall Dudley, of Flemingsburg, will take place September 29th at 2 p. m., in the M. E. Church, South, at that place.

WHEN you deal with Ballenger, the jeweler, you have the largest stock of goods in the city to select from, and his prices are as low as the lowest. He guarantees the goods to be just as represented.

If you consult your interest and want to buy where you get the best value for your money, you will buy of Hopper & Co., for their line of jewelry is new and bought since the reduction. See them before you buy.

The management of the Germantown Fair will enforce the strictest order—no intoxicating drinks will be sold on the grounds, no gaming allowed. They will give a first-class moral exhibition; and in view thereof they earnestly solicit the presence and support of all good people.

Dr. J. N. McCORMACK, of the State Board of Health, after making an inspection of their city, startled Louisvillians by the announcement that the Falls City is a hot-bed for the propagation of cholera and other disease germs. In his opinion it will take $100,000 to put Louisville in proper sanitary condition by next spring, when he thinks the greatest danger of an epidemic will exist.

MAYSVILLE CHAPTER No. 9, R. A. M., elected and installed the following officers last evening for the ensuing year:

MENTION has been made of the accident John Hill, of Aberdeen, met with at Catlettsburg Friday. The Ashland Signal says: “From all accounts the young man must be in a deranged condition, as his actions in Catlettsburg were decidedly peculiar. He was noticed following a young lady around the streets, who objected to any such proceedings. He then went to a private house and asked to be allowed to wash his hands. On being shown to a room he divested himself of a good suit of clothes he had on and put on an old one he found in the room. Thus equipped he started out again to find the young lady, and met with the accident mentioned. His mother, on being questioned, stated that John had acted queerly for some time. He had a quarrel with a friend in Aberdeen and left his home without giving them any notice.”

CHOLERA SCARE.

It Has About Petered Out and So Has the Disease.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The cholera scare has about petered out, and it also appears that the cholera has done likewise. Affairs were at a complete standstill at sanitary headquarters yesterday. The only steps taken by the board of health was to quarantine the steamship State of Nevada and an old canal boat on the North river. The steamship was quarantined because of the death on board Sunday evening of stoker Knox after an attack of diarrhoea. He had been ashore and got drunk. His mates say that he was subject to such attacks after spees. An autopsy on the body of Knox was made. The results have not as yet been given out.

The canal boat quarantined is the Henry Cahill. She lies at the foot of Thirtieth street, North river. She is the property of James Carr, who went to New Brunswick to see a sick child, and died there Sunday of what the New Brunswick board of health declared was Asiatic cholera.

There were a number of cholera reports received at the headquarters of the health board which proved on investigation to be entirely groundless. Miss Connerly is still in the hospital. She is progressing rapidly.

The captain of the Nevada in an interview with a reporter of the United Press on the case of Knox said: "Knox was rather a delicate man, and had been ill for some time. He died of diarrhoea. We sailed from Glasgow Sept. 2, and we have not been exposed to the cholera."

Dr. Jenkins, said yesterday evening that there was only one new case of cholera yesterday and that all other cholera patients in the hospital have been discharged. He added that the outlook is most encouraging.

Cholera in Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Sept. 20.—The total number of cholera cases up to yesterday evening has been 16,470, of which 8,110 ended in death. The reports for yesterday indicate a rapid abatement of the disease in all except two or three suburbs. The number of fresh cases was 621, or eighty-two less than Sunday; the number of deaths 187, or thirty-seven less than Sunday; the number of burials 202, or thirty-seven less than Sunday.

In public institutions there are 2,939 cholera patients, or ninety-two fewer than Sunday. The health board has now inspectors enough to watch closely all the infected districts, and the most painstaking disinfection is enforced in all cases.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN.

Another Regiment Takes Their Departure from Homestead.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Sept. 20.—The Fifteenth regiment departed for home yesterday. There were many regrets expressed by the people at the mill at seeing the regiment leave, and they were expressed in the remark of Mr. Childs, of the Carnegie company: "We are losing good friends."

Superintendent Potter refused to either confirm or deny the report that about 300 of the men in the mill had quit work when they heard the Fifteenth was ordered home. The strikers affirm that it is true and place the number much above 200.

General Wiley says brigade headquarters will break up this week. He will remain in command, but will not have his headquarters here. General Wiley says he has no knowledge that the Sixteenth regiment will be ordered home this week.

Furniture Workers' Strike.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—The Robert Mitchell company has refused to recognize the Furniture Workers' union and as a result all their employees are locked out. It is predicted by some of the men that the affair will extend to twenty other firms, comprising 1,500 workmen. The fight is particularly on the nine-hour question, the manufacturers sticking for a ten-hour day. The Mitchell company employs 400 men.

White Man Murdered by a Negro.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 20.—Robert Dark, an aged white man, was found murdered by an unknown negro early yesterday morning. Dark keeps a fish store on North Nashville. The negro came in to buy some fish. While being waited on he drew a knife and cut Dark's throat from ear to ear and robbed the store of $5. If caught the negro will be lynched.

A LEADER OF SLAVES.

ROMANTIC RISE AND FALL OF TOUSSAINT L'OUVREURE.

A Character in History Which Has Furnished a Theme for Poets and Orators. Napoleon's Base Treatment of the Great General—His Untimely End.

Thirty years ago Toussaint L'Ouverture was a name to conjure with. Poets and orators described his virtues and his genius and cited him as an illustrious example of the capabilities of his race.

A romantic interest will always attach to his name. The fact that for fifty-four years he lived in deepest obscurity as a slave on a Haytian plantation and the epic character of his subsequent achievements give a tinge of antique heroism to his history.

The French colony in Hayti was long one of the greatest slave marts in the world. At the time of the French revolution there were in the colony 30,000 whites, 20,000 free mulattoes and 500,000 slaves. The mulattoes, many of whom had been educated in France, took advantage of the revolution and obtained a recognition of their political rights from the French assembly; the whites of Hayti refused to recognize the decision and a war broke out which was soon complicated by an uprising of the whole slave population. On a memorable night in August, 1791, the plantations were fired and many of the whites were murdered.

Toussaint had not at this time acquired the name of L'Ouverture. This word, meaning "the opening," was applied to him afterward because he opened a way for the freedom of his race through the chaotic conditions of the following years.

In the dreadful wars of the years following the uprising of the slaves his extraordinary influence over his race and his military genius gave him pre-eminence over all other chiefs. A design of freeing his race, which could only be accomplished by making it the ruling race of Hayti, gradually took shape in his mind and forms the key note of his career.

France, Spain and England each bid high for his alliance, but France declared for the freedom of the slaves and he finally ranged himself under the French flag. It was evidently his desire to maintain a desirable connection with a European power which would yet leave him at liberty to develop his plans for his own race, but the recognition of his idea required a disinterested co-operation of which no European government was capable.

In a few years he had been recognized by France as commander in chief of the army of Hayti and was practically dictator of the island.

As a ruler of Hayti he surrounded himself with the pomp of a prince, although personally he retained habits of severe simplicity. He ate sparingly and slept little, being possessed of extraordinary powers of endurance. In dignity of manner he was entirely equal to his position. He endeavored to reconcile conflicting races, and his rule was impartial and able.

But Napoleon was not the man to allow a dictator under himself. He sent an army of 30,000 men to Hayti to restore slavery and reduce the colony to subjection.

Suspecting the true purpose of the expedition, Toussaint resisted the landing of the army, but finally laid down his arms after he had been assured that there was no intention of restoring slavery and that he injured the cause of his race by resistance.

He was still too powerful to be openly seized, but he was decoyed into the French quarters and was then hurried on board a vessel and carried to France. He hoped to meet Napoleon and defend his conduct, but on landing he was secretly hurried to a lonely fortress in the Alps, where he shortly afterward died. Many wild stories attributing his death to murder found credence at the time. Neglect and the change from a tropic to an Alpine climate doubtless hastened his end.

By his removal the progress of his race was incalculably retarded.

While Toussaint's fate and place of imprisonment were still unknown, Wadsworth wrote the beautiful sonnet, "To Toussaint L'Ouverture." His history is the subject of a drama by Lamartine, and of a novel, "The Hour and the Man," by Harriet Martineau. During the antislavery agitation in the United States he was cited as a most illustrious example of the real capabilities of his race. A poem by Whittier and an oration by Wendell Phillips commemorate his virtues and his genius.—Detroit Free Press.

Where Emeralds Come From.

New emerald mines have been discovered at Vegetable creek, in New South Wales. They are yielding many fine stones, but the supply is still mainly derived from the ancient deposits in the United States of Colombia, which have been worked for more than three centuries. There the gems are dug out of black limestone by primitive methods, with pickax and blasting.—New York Sun.

Killed by a Panther.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 20.—Kitty Yancy, twelve years old, and her brother, Herbert, aged ten, were found dead in the woods near Warsaw yesterday. They went into the woods accompanied by a dog. It is presumed that the dog must have aroused a panther which escaped to the woods from Barnum's circus a week ago, and that he attacked and killed the children. The dog was also found dead. The panther was captured yesterday and killed.
